Manna From Skies

Manna which fell from the skies last year near Jerusalem has been received in the U. S. by the Department of Commerce. It was sent by the Syrian Bishop of Jeru-salem. The manna is a grayish-white substance which fell during the night like dew and was gathered by placing sheets under trees from which it was shaken when the rising sun had dried it on the leaves. It is supposed to be the same sub-stance that fell for the Israelites in PARIS, March 2.—The praises of merican architects, whose work he lescribes as a "new art in the truest ense of the word," are sung by scorge Wybo, a young French archiect, in the columns of the Intranslreant.

The old skyscrapers of New York, ie says, "are not always the happiest examples of architectural conception is the newer offic buildings erected within the last 10 or 15 years are lescribed as "impeccable in execuion, well proportioned, possessing parmonious lines, with decorative lements of sober taste, constructed of splendid materials finely fashion

The sight of these buildings cause he Frenchman to recognize the exist nce of a new art "in the trues use of the word, an art capable of making us feel strong emotions sim lar to those awakened within us by he power and splendir of our cahedrals and certain monuments of he past in Europe.",

AT THE BUTLER TODAY

"Why Announce Your Marriage?" starring Elvine Hammerstein, which held today attending to business mate patient is showing wenderful fortideels with the ultre-modern method of separately maintained establishments by the contracting partico in marriage. It is on thir backs that the young bride and groom start out. Then the complications begin The husband is visiting his wife at her apartment at an hour that is not strictly according to the best conventions, and lounging in his dressing gown, when a crowd of carrymakers force their way in to ake the wife out on a party. The susboud manages to hide, but he orgets to conceal the end of a still smoking eigar, and also his hat and tock are discovered. Similar "scan "ls" occur in his own apartment until the two are driven distracted by the gossip. Still they stand by their guns. At last something hap pens more sensational than any of he previous incidents, and the trut s revealed. It's a "peppy" affair and Miss Hammercieln has never been more charming than in thi tile of the independent young person who experiments with marris e Also on today's program is the atost "Pathe News."
